Christian Noyer was born in 1950 near Paris. After obtaining a Bachelor of Laws (LL.B.), he received a Master's Degree in Public Administration from the Paris Institute of Political Studies ("Sciences Po"). He then joined the Ecole Nationale d'Administration (ENA), of which he is a graduate. He entered the French Treasury in 1976, and spent two years in 1980-82 in Brussels as a financial attache at the French Delegation to the European Union. Back at the Treasury, he held various positions, dealing both with domestic and international affairs, and was appointed Director of the Treasury in 1993. He also served as an adviser to Mr. Balladur, then Minister of Finance, in 1986-88, and as chief of staff to two other Finance Ministers in 1993 and 1995-97. He was then appointed

Vice President of the European Central Bank (ECB) in 1998, when the Bank was set-up in Frankfurt, where he served until 2002. He was Governor of the Banque de France from November 2003 until November 2015. He was also elected Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Bank for International Settlements (BIS) from 2010 until 2015.

About College of Central Bankers

The Global Interdependence Center is pleased to announce our College of Central Bankers initiative to further sustain and enhance our relationship with former leaders of the world's central banks.

GIC enjoys a long and trusted rapport with current and former leaders of central banks both in the US and across the globe. Through their participation in our events, the GIC offers a distinguished, neutral platform for thought leadership on important macroeconomic and socially important topics – many in central banking and monetary policy.

The College of Central Bankers will continue to enhance GIC's position as a leader in international dialogue and to further strengthen GIC's connection to the central banking community.

GIC proudly announced the first members of the College of Central Bankers at the 2018 Global Citizen Award and Global Economic and Policy Outlook at the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia. These inaugural members are:

- Christian Noyer, Honorary Governor, Banque de France
- William Poole, Senior Fellow, Cato Institute and Former President of the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis
- Anthony Santomero, Former President of the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia

We look forward to the formal announcement of the 2019 members of the College of Central Bankers, which will take place on Friday, December 13, 2019 at the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia. The details of this program are forthcoming.
